Wheat.

A further increase in the area sown in wheat in Ireland is most essential in view of the admitted shortage in the world's supplies of bread-stuffs.

This year Ireland's wheat acreage (although showing a big increase on that of 1916) is only sufficient to supply the country's needs for a period of about two months.

For the remaining ten months Ireland must depend on wheat and wheat flour from abroad, imported in face of the ever-present submarine peril.

Much of the old grass land ploughed last Spring, and on which corn crops were sown this season, sho ld now be sown with wheat. The land should get 4 to 5 cwt. basic slag per statute acre at the time of sowing and, if found necessary, 1 cwt. sulphate of ammonia in early Spring.

Early Seeding before the Winter rains set in is most desirable.

ahead, one must express the hope that Mr. Lovat Crosley will be heard in greater prominence. If his general operatic ability is as excellent as the quality of his voice was clear and sweet in the few phrases he sang in the prologue he should go far. At all events, the opportunity of further judgment will be welcomed. Miss Florence Barron sang thoroughly well in the Doll's part, her clear, open voice giving much pleasure. Miss Eva Turner as Gulietts, and Miss Clara Simons as Autonia acquitted themselves with credit. Once again the orchestra, directed by Mr. Herbert Ferrers, gave entire satisfaction, fulfilling its functions so well and judiciously, indeed, that in the casey progress of the bright music one was unconscious how much was owing to the orchestra. It should be recorded that their very nice treatment of "Faust" on Monday was additionally creditable from the fact that they were without their own scores, and had to play from vocal scores.

ABBEY THEATRE.

The programme at the Abbey Theatre this week includes two of the best known Abbey plays. Mr. St. John Ervine's problem play, "Mixed Marriage," is one of the strongest contributions to Irish drama which has been given in recent times. The characters are drawn with the firmness of a genuine artist, and the situations which follow in natural sequence lead to a climar of much dramatic strength. The acting, which was appreciated by a large audience, was in keeping with the traditions of the theatre The parts were taken by the following—Fred O'Donovan, Maureen Delany, Arthur Shields, Louis O'Comor, Derothy Lynd, Peter Lynd. Lady Gregory's amusing comedy, "The Workhpuse Ward," was also presented, and was enjoyed, while the music supplied by Mr. Larochet's orchestra was much appreciated.

If Mr. Duke Dutch Government. Much of the arguabout the state of Ireland. If Mr. Duke Dutch Government. Much of the argument of this statement is irrelevant. For if independent Irish members do their duty, the average Englishman will soon duty, the average Englishman will soon duty. duty, the average Englishman will soon realise that, while the fate of the proposed Irish settlement is involved in the present crisis, matters of even larger and higher import are also involved in it. The Government will be asked to decide not merely that decent administration must be restored to Ireland, and that the Convention must be "given a chance," but that unchecked sedition must not be allowed to comfort the King's enemies and to hamper the progress of the Allied arms.

From one point of view the resolution is the first impulse of nearly every member was to look up at the Ladies' Gallery and see what effect the removal of the grille had produced. The general opinion was that it was singularly small. The heavy stone mouldings still prevent one from being able to see much more of the progress of the Allied arms.

From one point of view the resolution

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON comfort the King's enemies and to hamper the progress of the Allied arms.

From one point of view the resolution of which Mr. Redmond has given notice is lamentable; from another it is welcome, and should have good results. It is lamentable because it proves that the Nationalist Party is still treading the downward path on which it entered after the Rebellion. It is still truckling to the Siann Fein movement, instead of trying to "stand up to it." It still refuses to give any encouragement to firm government in Ireland, and seems to think that, by creating unnecessary difficulties for the forces of law and order, it can propitiate the people in this country who are most deeply pledged to its destruction. Mr. Dillon's notorious speech in the House of Commons after the calamity of Easter was keepled in the process of the Allied arms.

Works of a neutral character"—the maintenance of roads and railways and such purposes. It requests from the British Government evidence to the contrary, adequate general evidence should exist in the whole character of the German occupation of Belgium. The invaders have stripped the country of its industries, and those that remain are diverted wholly to war purposes. Industrial work in Belgium and traffic on Belgian roads and rail.

Sale Mr. Gulland opened the proceedings by moving the writ for East Islington, vacant through the death of Sir George Radford. As the "National Party" are putting up a candidate there in the person of Mr. E. B. Barnard, who was formerly a Radical M.P., one's thoughts naturally turned to this new political constellation. So far as I could see, only two of its small and silent membership were present. They sat side by side on the Front Opposition of the Corper seat, but Mr. Houston, who has occupied it since Lord Hugh Cecil transferred himself to the Ministerial side, will take a lot of shifting.

ment of "political" prisoners; but in that event we hope that it will insist on some rational and strict definition of the word "political." The real charge which Mr. Duke must answer is not a charge based on any combination of accident and stupidity. It is the charge that in recent months his Executive has tolerated the rapid growth of sedition and lawlessness in every part of Ireland. It is not a charge that laws and regulations in Ireland are bad—if they are bad, they ought to be changed. It is a charge that he has failed to administer the law as he found it, and by his failure has given a fatal encourage—ment to the men who are engaged in path of the charge that he was failed to administer the law as he found it, and by his failure has given a fatal encourage—ment to the men who are engaged in path of the charge that he was right expensed in the course, there was rigid examination.

PROPRIETORS OF THE TIMES.) A CHECK ON UNNEUTRAL ACTS.

We have suspended, says The Times, the privilege of using British cables for commercial messages hitherto enjoyed by the Netherlands because they allow the Germans to dispate certain materials for military purposes through Dutch waterways. That is the gist of the communication "from an authoritative source, which was investigated and let us any on munication "from an authoritative source," which was issued yesterday, and let us say one word in passing about the method of this otherwise unimpeachable announcement. Continental diplomatists habitually make statements through official, semi-official, 'officials,' demi-pemi-official, and "outside" channels, and fraw nice distinctions between the quality of the information so conveyed. The whole system is familiar to observers of foreign politics, and it may be studied with profit in the pages of its mark's herefungan and foady. Busch, Its in may be studied with profit in the pages of Bismarck's henchman and toady, Busch. Its ahief object is to circulate through the subordinate categories of inspiration news and opinious which can be disavowed whenever disavowal gray prove convenient. As the Foreign Office sannot reasonably be suspected of entertaining this purpose, there does not seem to be any reason why they should ape an unnecessary practice. Let them say plainly what they want to be said, and let them say it on their own authority. In the present case the facts are perfectly simple and clear. At the beginning of the war we allowed neutrals this use of our cables as a privilege, but we reserved to ourof the war we allowed neutrals this use of of cables as a privilege, but we reserved to ou selves our indisputable right to restrict it, of withdraw it, should we at any time so this fit. So far as Holland is concerned, we have thought fit, for reasons which to imparting minds must-seem good and sufficient. The Dutch have permitted the Germans to sen large quantities of stone, sand, and graw through Holland from Germany to Belgium and to send ores and scrap metal through Holland processing the stone of the second o and to send ores and scrap metal through H

COAL IN HOLLAND.

According to the Amsterdam Correspondent of The Times, the dwindling coal supplies in Holland have caused many industries to cease, and the scarcity is now most serious. Before the war England supplied only 15 per cent. of the foreign coal consumed in Holland, the remaining 85 per cent, coming from Germany, which has raised its prices to an exorbitant extent. The British Government, which had carefully watched events in Holland, put forward proposals, combining in one see the supply of posals, combining in one see the supply bunker, the supply of chal for shore the 'Hahfax facilities,' the remission of old regulations under which coal could fetched from the United Kingdom, and toninge to the same amount as the quantum of coal which they wished to import permenth from the United Kingdom. These proposals were, on the whole, fayourably received but certain negotiations were still necessary tactful details. It is generally believed, however, that eventually the broad lines of the proposals will be accepted. As, in the mean time, the German demands continued exorbitant and an increasing number of leading future deliveries under the new agreement provided they made the necessary arrangement to fetch this coal. The Dutch resised the their most urgent wants could thus be satisfied supply of coal had reached a satisfactory agment. The terms, I understand, says The Tr. Correspondent, are very different from the originally declared to be Germany's minim to supply 250,000 tons of coal per month cash price of 45 florins (£3 15s.) a ton. no way correspond to the amount at firs manded, and the greater part of these credi is to be granted by a combination of Dutch co dealers.
